There is a power in the letter below which will touch every man's heart who reads it, the world over. It was written by President Johnson to a friend in Berlin, Prussia, and reads:

"EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
Washington, D. C., July 20.

My Dear Sir: I thank you for your letter of the 20th of June. I shall use my best endeavors to make my administration national, and not partisan. Perverting power to partisan ends is only less criminal than attempting the nation's life.

Our nation has gone out of its four years struggle for existence strengthened and purified, and with a capacity for a growth in the future unparalleled in history.

I am pleased to hear from so intelligent an observer as yourself that the fact that our government is a government of the people—existing only for the people—is being appreciated in Europe.

I trust our national success will prove the success of popular principles throughout the world. I am, sir, very truly, yours,
ANDREW JOHNSON."

There are golden words in this letter.—Nor will the pith of them be unfelt at home or abroad. "Our government is a government of the people—deriving all its power from the people, existing only for the people." These are grand words—a platform for a patriot President, and for patriots all over the world.—Leavenworth Times.

IT has been decided that land officers cannot enter, in their own name, lands for actual settlement under the homestead law.

[illegible] Bring Out the Man.

Never, perhaps, was this truth better or more fully illustrated than in the history and life of Lieutenant General Grant, the nation's warrior idol.

From an extremely lowly estate, he has risen to the highest pinnacle of honor, and won for himself a name, than which none need boast a prouder.

His history is fraught with evidences of perseverance, patience, modesty, wisdom [illegible] cares and [illegible] a love of order, the proof of a powerful concentrativeness and an indomitable will, that has quietly but surely accomplished whatever he has set his heart to do.

Ulysses Grant was educated at West Point, from which he graduated, and distinguished himself in several battles during the Mexican war, no less than in the untiring care with which he afterwards discharged the duties of Captain in the Quartermaster's Department at Oregon.

In 1854 he resigned his commission, and went to St. Louis where he is reported to have engaged in wood-hauling—himself driving his own ox team. On the death of his brother, he was called by his father to Galena, Illinois, to take that brother's place in superintending the leather business, of which his father was proprietor. He was engaged at a salary of $40 per month. For two years he filled the humble position assigned him with credit to himself and profit to his father. Aside from business, he was extremely retired in his habits, and entered, with zest upon no topic, even that of the Mexican war, except though he conversed upon various subjects.

About the time of the attack on Fort Sumpter, the "Douglas Guard" was organized in Galena in opposition to the "Lincoln Wide-Awakes," and Captain Grant requested to become its orderly sergeant. He replied with becoming dignity that "a Captain of the United States Infantry was not the one to accept such a position." He was a Union man and opposed to the factious spirit of those who sought the gratification of party feeling rather than the promotion of the nation's interests. It is generally unknown, even to this day, for whom he voted—whether for Lincoln or Douglas.

When the reverberation of the guns that thundered upon the walls of Fort Sumpter awoke the nation to realize the important fact that an armed resistance to the national government had commenced, and that the South had actually organized or was organizing, an army on a gigantic scale, for aggressive and defensive purposes, as a seperate power, and an independent nationality, the citizens of Galena held a war meeting, of which Captain Grant was appointed Chairman. Offering afterwards his services to Mr. Washburn, a company was raised there, and sent, equipped, under him to Cairo. He was advised to go to Springfield and offer his services. He did so, but was met with a coldness and hauteur that, to any other than such as he, would have been utterly discouraging. He was employed as a copyist; but his active mind was unsatisfied and could not long submit to unjust treatment from a set of pompous politicians, so evidently and infinitely his inferiors in everything that constitutes true manhood, though, then, his superiors in station. He accordingly told them that they might employ some one for a dollar a day to do such work—it was hardly in his line.

Attention was attracted to him, and some influential gentlemen honorably put forth his claims, and he was appointed an aid of Governor Yates. Directed to gather the State arms, he collected about 1,500, and also mustered in some men. He was still treated coldly, however, by the majority, and with a degree of dignity becoming his high merits, he proposed to his friends a return home.—They would not consent to this, and urged upon the Governor his appointment as Colonel of the 21st regiment, but without success. The regiment afterwards became so demoralized that open mutiny was threatened—he was then commissioned colonel and assigned to its command. So poor was he at that time, that he had to return to Galena, and borrow money to purchase his uniform.

On returning to his regiment, he marched them into Missouri, and served under General Fremont. On the 31st of July, the Gazette announced his promotion to a [illegible]. His subsequent promotions are well known to the [illegible] his present exalted position as Lieutenant General of the finest army in the world, has made him the cynosure of every eye, the pride of every American; his history a study for every lover of inherent worth, true manliness, honor and [illegible]; his name the praise of every tongue; his merited triumphs a stimulus for every patriotic youth; and his glorious character the emulation [illegible].

Long live the [illegible]! May his fame rise higher and still higher. May the pestilential [illegible] never cool the ardor of [illegible]—the intrigues of worthless [illegible] never blast his [illegible] never allow a [illegible] to defame his worth— [illegible].

[illegible] in the land [illegible] of [illegible] its due reward, and the pestiferous venom of slander can no longer poison and destroy!

COLORADO ITEMS.—Cyrus A. [illegible] drowned himself in the Platte, near Denver, on the 6th inst.; cause, "mental derangement." Col. P. B. Cheney's big Billiard Hall, Blake street, Denver, is said to be one of the grandest institutions of the kind west of Chicago. He would have opened here the last summer, but for the non-licence law inaugurated. Langrishe's theatrical troupe are through with their Benefits in the "hill country," and intend re-opening in Denver presently, with additional "people" from the east. The Central City Register says, of mining:

Mr. Lyon has two large smelting furnaces erected, and is erecting others for roasting and cupelling. He hopes to have the whole in operation in a few weeks. This style of treating ores is not new, but has been practised for many years. It is the only method known in Europe for treating ores like ours.

That the gold and silver will be saved by this process there can be no doubt.

THE Black Hawk Journal says that B. F. Dalton, an exceedingly enterprising and successful millman, who has "made his pile," is starting to our Rush valley, Utah, silver mines, to operate here. He says that he has seen hundreds of pounds of the Rush valley silver ores in New York, and perhaps a hund.ed assays of them; and that they are rich enough for him!

THE Black Hawk (Colorado) Journal gives an account of an amusing incident that happened at the recent election in Central City. It will be remembered that Colorado, at the election for or against a state government, voted also for or against negro suffrage. The Journal says that two Irishmen, chums, approached the polls in Central to perform the highest duty and privilege of an American citizen—one of them thickskulled as the darkey whose head caught and knocked into a thousand pieces, without injury to the head, that brick which fell from the top of a fourstory building; the other, quite a likely, intelligent fellow. No. 1 chucked in a vote "against the constitution," and "for negro suffrage." No. 2 says, "What the divil are yes voting that way for? shure and we don't want nagur suffrage!" "Och! to hell with the nagur," replied thick head, "let him suffer and be damned to him!"

THE Portland Oregonian of September 28th, relates the following: Among the twenty-eight families that have arrived in this city during the past two days from the plains across, may be found a few, at least, of the ilk described by Gen. Ashley. The ignominous connection of capitals, "C. S. A." appears branded upon the shoulder of a few of the horses owned by them, and one or two men have acknowledged their service to the Confederacy in fighting the "d—d Yankees."—Another thinks the war not yet ended, and was very emphatically of the opinion that the youngest boy in the train would yet live to thrash a "d—d Abolitionist" or two in future contests. Aside from some of this character, the immigration appears to be respectable citizens.

THE Placerville Mirror has the following: Some necessary leveling and surveying on the Placerville and Sacramento Valley Railroad route, which has been going on for the past two months, being about completed, work on the enterprise will shortly be pushed forward with greater vigor than ever. Twelve hundred hands are the number stated which will be set at work in the course of a couple of weeks, and in three months from that time the whistle of the locomotive will salute the ears of our citizens.

FREIGHT FROM CHICO TO IDAHO.—The Idaho World of a late date mentions the arrival at Idaho City of six heavy wagons loaded with freight from Chico. They performed the outward trip in about 90 days. The price paid was about 12 1-2 cents per pound from Chico through. The World says it is expected that the journey will be made hereafter in considerable less time.

THE Richmond Bulletin publishes a hoax about a human body found in a liquid state in a barrel sent to a druggist in that city, the corpse being that of Linn C. Doyle, of Philadelphia. Our exchanges far and wide are copying the revolting story, without noticing that the story is a joke, and the name, "linseed oil."

MR. A. J. STEWART, the rich dry goods merchant, is building a house in the Fifth avenue, New York, which is to cost $800,000. In order to clear the site, he tore down the famous mansion which Sarsaparilla Townsend built some ten years previous at a cost of about $200,000. Mr. Stewart is married, but has no children.

THE Dalles Mountaineer has changed hands, Lieut. Jas. Halloran and [illegible] Cowney, both printers, are now the proprietors. It is said that old Newell, the former owner, has gone east to procure an Indian Agency among the Chinooks, on the Columbia.

CHICA[illegible] are cla[illegible] ranging [illegible] a half [illegible]

AN e[illegible] squadron in the Pacific is to be reinforced by the addition of ten heavily armed vessels and two iron-clads.

THE California Methodist Conference, in session at San Francisco, adopted a resolution in favor of negro suffrage, on the 26th ult.

THE Creole ladies of New Orleans are about forwarding to President Johnson a petition for his Executive clemency towards Jeff. Davis.

THE Oregon papers are quarrelling about a complimentary State Fair ticket, which one of the editors did not happen to be the recipient of.

MONTANA AND OREGON.—The Portland Oregonian very clearly proves that place more advantageous for the monopoly of the trade of Montana Territory than St. Louis or Chicago.

ELIHU BURRITT, the learned blacksmith, recently appointed United States Consular Agent at Birmingham, has met with a most cordial reception in England.

Two discharged soldiers, formerly of Company G, Fifth Infantry, were recently killed by Indians near Tubac, Arizona. Their names were Richard Hann, a German, and Michael Victor, a Frenchman.

THE Atlantic and Pacific Mail Company, under the new arrangements, will commence running steamers tri-monthly each way on the 10th of November. The Henry Chenney will run between Aspinwall and New York.

THE following threat was made, the other day, by an excited fisticuffer: "I'll twist you round your own throat, until there's nothing left of you but the ends of your shirt-collar sticking out of your eyes!" The feat was finally a fizzle, as generally threats turn out.

IT is but little known that the first anti-slavery paper started in the United States was published in East Tennessee. It was called the Emancipator, and published at Greenville, the home of President Johnson, by Benjamin F. Lundy, a Friend in religious faith, and a native of Belmont county, Ohio.

PETRIFACTION.—The editor of the Austin Reveille has been shown a piece of pitch pine, perfectly silicified and metamorphosed into a hard yellow flint, excepting the bark, which is converted into a black flint. The strong odor of the wood remains fixed, and is as fresh as it would be in a newly-cut tree.

THE Boston Advertiser seldom jests, but when it does, it is highly entertaining; as, for example: "Boston is undoubtedly a very good place to live in, but it will never be appreciated because of the modesty of its citizens!" We can't "see it," nor never could.

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The land for the Central Pacific Railroad is now under examination at the Land Office, preparatory to an early issue of the patent therefor. The Land Commissioners is informed that the above route is in complete running order to Clipper Gap, or New England Mills, and is equipped with 167 cars and eight locomotives.—N. Y. Herald.

THE Presbyterian preachers of St. Louis have resolved not to take the Convention oath, and have issued an address to the brethren throught the State. Governor Fletcher says they shall not preach unless they qualify. The Governor has temporal power, and will probably come out ahead.

A NEW SOCIETY.—A new order, called the Sons of Columbia, the object of which is to secure the election of members of the State Legislature and Congress who are pledged to support the Monroe Doctrine and in other ways to aid the cause of republicanism in America, has been established and is said to be rapidly spreading in San Francisco.

MATRIMONIAL.—A wedding took place in San Jose lately, which is quite an event in the social circles of the old Californians—the F. F. C.'s, so to speak. Juan C. Alvarado, son of old Governor Alvarado, was united in marriage to Miss M. A. Brodie, of San Jose. The wedding guests gathered from all parts of the southren country, as the Governor is a gentleman highly esteemed by the old Californians.

THE pirate Semmes is described by a foreign letter writer as a cheap, rheumy-looking man of about fifty-five years, the only expressive feature about him being his nose, which must have cost a great deal of money to bring it to its present bright ruby color. He neither courted nor avoided observation, was travelling alone, and had little conversation with any one.

MEERSCHAUM is made on a large scale in New York, by saturating carbonate of magnesia in silicate of soda or soluble glass—care in selecting a good quality of magnesia and silicate being the only requisites for success. The profits are immense, as will be seen. Magnesia costs about twenty-five cents per pound, and silicate of soda even less. A pipe made of the "foam of the sea," as smokers avily believe, sells for [illegible] trial [illegible] for labor.

AUSTIN (Nev.) contains 5,000 inhabitants and 1,200 buildings.

WE may with good propriety forget what we have bestowed, but what we have received, never.

NOTHING from the Fort Sully Indian Peace Commission as yet, [illegible] met on the 15th inst., as the papers said.

THERE's to be horse-races, here, they say, next Monday and Tuesday, over Zion's course. Pretty rough, that, on Zion—in the tops of the mountains!

FLOUR has fallen pretty low lately, in Montana. Five days ago, four hundred sacks Salt Lake flour were offered, in Virginia, at $15, and refused.

THE First National Bank of Nevada, at Austin, is to open for business on the 1st of November next, having connected with it a complete and newly erected Assay and Reduction Works.

COMING DOWN.—The celebrated Sheba Mine, in Humbolt county, Nevada, is to be sold at Sheriff's sale, to satisfy a judgment of $30,000 in favor of the Bank of California. Three years ago it was worth $300 a foot.

THERE was no mail from the west or east, from Monday morning up to yesterday noon. The telegraph was out of order east of Omaha, for a day or so, hence no dispatches here this morning. Hard times for this business.

SILVER FEET.—At San Francisco, on the 10th, Nevada stocks sold as follows: Savage, per foot, $1,075; Yellow Jacket, $1,105; Ophir, $510; Belcher, $630; Crown Point, $1,025; Hale & Norcross, $480; Chollar, $480, and Potosi, $455.

D. W. TILTON, proprietor of the Virginia, Montana, Post, arrived here yesterday en route to "America," on business. In his absence the aforesaid hebdomadal will appear as usual, under the editorial overcharge of Prof. Dimsdale.

WAKING UP.—Reese River mines are attracting considerable attention from Eastern capitalists. The Reveille quotes the sale of the Maximillian, Silver Chamber and San Jose claims, all on Union Hill, for a gross amount of $60,000.

QUITE an influx of affidavits of indefinite identity are sojourning in this City of the Saints this season,—from Montana, Denver, Leavenworth and other sections—some on the sly genteel, and some upon their shape.

SOME precious poet defines "beautiful extract" to be helping a young lady out of a mud-puddle. This is almost as bad as the wit of Hartly Coleridge who once being asked which of Woodsworth's productions he considered best, answered: "His daughter Dora."

B. F. DALTON Esq., a prominent operator in the Colorado mines for years past, arrived here yesterday from the east, to interest himself in some rich silver ledges at Stockton, Rush Valley, Utah. We welcome capitalists of his stamp among us. Our ore is rich, and only wants the capital to work it, to realize rich results.

NEW ANNOUNCEMENT OF GOODS.—The trade and public are directed to notice the new column announcement of Messrs Wilkinson and Fenn, in another portion of this paper. They desire to job off, at once and very low, their mammoth stock of fancy goods, hardware, boots and shoes, paints and oils, sewing machines, and so forth. Call and see them.

BABIES AND WHEAT.—Babies are like wheat in many respects. Firstly, neither are good for much till they arrive at maturity; secondly, bred in the house, and also the flower of the family; thirdly, both have to be cradled; and, fourthly, both are generally well thrashed before they are done with.

LT. GOV. BROSS, alias the "Deacon," arrived at his home in Chicago, safe and sound a couple of weeks since. Report saith not whether he brought along to the Garden City that said Ben Holladay coach—to sleep in for the remainder of his days, or rather nights! That was a good puff, by the Deacon, but the Black Hawk boys couldn't be made to see it!

THE lately married C. S. at Fort Bridger, Capt. Skelton, has the thanks of the Electro-Telegraph outfit and ourselves, for an "invoice" of some of Judge Carter's best champaign, from Fort Bridger, by yesterday's Overland. It appears that the bride, the other day, was not a Mrs. Wells, (though the wires said so,) but a Mrs. Walls. Well, what's in a name? With walls (of woman's love) to go between [illegible] you and the world, [illegible] may one desire?

Arrivals and Departures.

From Montana, D. W. Tilton, Mrs. Kate Barnum, Jennie H. Harlan, E. Moore, W. H. Miller, Isaac Sumpter.

To Boise City, M. E. Flanders.

To Montana, Mrs. Everly.

From the east, B. F. Dalton.

From the west, Mrs. R. Barker, Mrs. [illegible]

To the west, E. [illegible], C. E. Paine.

THE present population of [illegible] is 3,015,494; of the borough of Liverpool, 476,368 [illegible] 1830.

CALEB LYON, of Lyonsdale, the poetical and versatile ex-Congressman, is to continue to grace the governor's chair [illegible] have a great effect in developing the oratorical resources of that new territory.

THE following concluding lines of a new and thrilling "pome," by the editor of the N. Y. Tribune, the Dead Sea Telegraph, or some other man of latter day talent, will be read with interest by the denizens of this locality:

> "Here's whar the red Injun tuck his delite,
> Fisht, fit and bled!
> Now the inhabitants is white—
> With nary red!"

THE San Francisco Call, of last Sunday a week, gives "Prof." Myers, of necromancy notoriety, a complimentary squib, if we read it right. Also another reference to "old man" Potter and parties hereabouts. The Call, to save its gizzard, can't speak of Potter without black-berrying him, nor can the S. F. Dramatic Chronicle ope its miserable mouth without a slimy slur on Salt Lake dramatic notices—for the sake of showing its own crabbed "smartness." 'Twould be fatal for such fellows to fall down suddenly. They're so "sharp," there might be danger of their cutting themselves all to pieces!

MESSRS. WALKER BROTHERS are also "coming to the front," with their warehouse. It will be of best brown stone, stylish but chaste and plain.

Messrs. Siegel & Co's corner store is now completely fixed, and the boys are busy dressing up the show-windows.

There must be a score, or, at least, a dozen nice new buildings in the course of completion or enlargement on the business streets these days, not to speak of the Rev. Mr. McLeod's new church and "brother" Potter's Academy of Music.

SAID one of the chief spokesmen at the Mormon Convention the other day, "let their goods (the gentiles',) rot on their shelves, rather than patronize them to the preference of a saint's." And, speaking of home manufacture, an old covey rose up and remarked that there was an article—straw hats—which he wanted to see worked more by their women folks; and for that fabric's encouragement the first fair one who with her own hands made the nicest straw hat, he might make her his wife! Smiles reddened into rosebuds on some of the young saintess' cheeks, and they didn't seem to covet the inducement.

"LEGITIMACY."—Speaking of his being the only "legitimate government" on the earth, Brigham Young, at the Conference last week, was working harder than a hired man to hood-wink the saint-ly strangers from the south into the idea that his hierarchic style of things—the "holy priesthood," God save the mark, as he called it—was the only "legimate" (?) institution in the universe; and, to this end, he argued thusly:—After alluding to the fact that certain distinguished gentiles had visited here last summer, and, that some, (doubtless meaning Colfax,) "hem'd and haw'd because none of the Elders had invited him home to see their wives, to—spend the evening with 'em," he added. (to sustain the (il-)legitimacy part of his argument!) "I may send out on a mission to foreign parts, one of my elders at the age of twenty, and he may be gone until he's ninety, and although women may roll over him, he won't t—rouble them, that he may live legitimately till he returns here to his own wives and women that he's legitimately "sealed" to (?) And all good sisters, the Seer continued, will allow none of these godless Gentiles to go near them, till they go it legitimately, through the sanction of the church—Ergo, this system maketh him the only legitimate ruler on the earth—in a horn!

"Just as the bee collects her sweets,
From every shrub and flower she meets,
What from many a source we drew
We give, tho' not the whole as new."

Autumn.

The soft calm days of Autumn once again
Have brought their lovely melancholy spell,
Which blinds the hearts of thinking, dreaming men
With that mysterious lingering ken
[illegible]
And while the sun is struggling to diffuse
Its bright effulgence through the soft dim air,
It is not all within our power to choose
[illegible]
In memory freed from every care—
In thought to wander scarcely knowing where
While subject to this changing, mystic, Autumn rune.
Who has not strolled along some sylvan stream
To hear the gentle whispering of the tide,
When leaves were falling thro' the sun's pale beam,
And watched alone till all was like a dream?
And in that dream how many to our side
Have come again, with gentle words to chide,
By saying, ah, how cold all in absence seem!
How oft I've asked the future if 'twere mine
To live so good, so upright, and so pure,
That, when this life was sinking in decline,
The light of Heaven would as softly shine
As this to-day, and calmly thus allure
The chastened soul to realms that shall endure;
Where all is like the God who made it—all divine.

THERE seems to be an epidemic of foundlings at Baltimore. Three extremely juvenile children were left at different doorsteps during one week.

AN English tourist, amazed at the unfinished condition of affairs at Washington, says: "At one end of the street you may purchase the last new novel, at the other end you may possibly encounter a rattlesnake."

IN Pittsburg, Sept. 15th, $30,000 was abstracted from the safe of the paymaster of the Chicago and Fort Wayne Railroad. No clue has been discovered as to the perpetrators of the robbery.

THE first action the President will take on the amended Constitutions of Mississippi and other Southern States, as they are submitted to him, will be to send them into Congress next session.
